

WOLFMAN JACK BEATLES RADIO SHOW
AUDIO TAPE

90-024

Physical description:

1 10' reel to reel analog audio tape (TTA-0127)

Date:

[1976?]

Provenance:

This audio tape was retrieved from discard by Middle Tennessee State University Television Services by the Center audio archivist. The date, source, etc. are unknown.

Biographical sketch:

Wolfman Jack, born Bob Smith in Brooklyn NY ca. 1939, was an early fan of rhythm and blues and rock music and spent over thirty years as a disc jockey in Nashville and southern California. He also hosted the television show Midnight Special for nine years and appeared in the film American Graffiti. (from clippings in Nashville Tennessean 6 April and 2 July 1988 in the biographical vertical file.)

Scope and content:

This radio show, written and produced by Jim Nettleton and Long John Wade (Wayne?) was a four-hour documentary of the history of the Beatles and includes narration and interviews as well as performances by the Beatles.

Location:

Audio visual materials are filed by tape number in the audio visual archives.